Clinical course of Ebola hemorrhagic fever in a patient presumably infected during necropsy of infected chimpanzee. Health care workers have frequently been infected while treating Ebola patients without correct infection precautions. The majority of deaths occur on the 8th day, although death can occur from 2 days to 21 days after the onset.