

The Amu Dar'ya River 200 km south of its entrance into the Aral Sea, September 23, 2000. The once mighty Amu Dar'ya in its lower reaches is now only a trickle owing to heavy withdrawals for irrigation upstream. In 2000, a very dry year, little or no water reached the Aral Sea.
(Photograph by Philip Micklin.)

